1.0 Introduction

The Electronic Docketing System (EDS) for the Civilian Board of Contract Appeals (CBCA) is an automated system that allows parties to file and access documents electronically and to view case files. Initially, EDS will be used for cases filed pursuant to the Contract Disputes Act (CDA), 41 U.S.C. §§ 7101-7109, including appeals under the Equal Access to Justice Act (EAJA) and Indian Self-Determination Act (ISDA), and requests for arbitration under Section 423 of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (Stafford Act), 42 U.S.C. § 5189a(d), as amended by Section 1219 of the Federal Aviation Administration Reauthorization Act of 2018, Pub. L. 115-254, to resolve disputes between the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and applicants for public assistance disaster grants. Other cases will continue to be filed via email, consistent with the procedures found in the Board's rules, which can be found on the Board's website at <https://www.cbca.gov>. Protected material in CDA appeals must not be filed using EDS unless the judge has entered a protective order in the case. Confidential materials in FEMA arbitrations should be identified as such upon filing. Classified material cannot be filed through EDS.

EDS is intended to be easy to use. A filer creates a document using conventional word processing software and converts it to a Portable Document Format (PDF) file. After logging into EDS, the filer enters basic information relating to the document, attaches the PDF file, and submits it to CBCA. A notice verifying receipt of the filing is automatically generated and emailed to the other parties.

This guide is intended for agency points of contact (POCs) and agency representatives. Agency POCs and agency representatives are typically the attorneys entering an appearance in a case on behalf of an agency.
